

METHOD AND DEVICE FOR TRANSPORTING POWDERY SUBSTANCES

In a piston metering pump for supplying the atomizer of a powder coating machine, the vacuum generated in the pump chamber during the suction movement of the piston is reduced in controlled fashion by introducing transport air in order to reduce the powder throughput.